Cabin Options

When registering for Family Camp, you will reserve a cabin for your family. The cabins are the same as the cabins we use for summer camp. Here are the cabin types:

Modern Camp Cabins: $540, includes up to 5 people

Cabins can hold up to 10 people, and additional people costs $85/person. Our Modern Camp cabins are heated, insulated, and have electricity. The cabins are a short walk from the central bathhouse.

Large Island Cabins: $820, includes up to 8 people.

Cabins can hold up to 14 people, and additional people costs $85/person.

The Large Island cabins are a great option if you're planning to share the cabin with another family or would like more space! These cabins are like our Modern Camp cabins but are more spacious. The Large Island cabins are heated, insulated, and have electricity. The cabins are a short walk from the central bathhouse.

Rustic Cabins: $260, includes up to 3 people.

Cabins can hold up to 10 people, and additional people costs $85/person.

Our Rustic cabins are not heated or insulated and have a longer walk to the bathhouse. These cabins have electricity and are in a more secluded area of camp. Please note that these cabins have only screen windows.

FAQ

What are the cabins like?

- You will be staying in the cabins we use for summer camp. We have a few different types of cabins, with different layouts. Some cabins have divisions within them (i.e. a separate “room”, but without a door), while others are big open rooms. All our cabins have twin bunk beds, but have enough beds that most members of your party will be able to have a bottom bunk.

If we don't fill all the spaces in my cabin, will another family be assigned to share the cabin?

- No. You have reserved the whole cabin for your family.

I'm not sure yet exactly how many people will be attending in my group.

- Not a problem. We will reach out two weeks prior to Family Camp to confirm the number of people you expect to attend. Then, we'll make sure your account was charged for the right number of people.

I'm not sure what cabin type I selected, or if this was the right choice for my family.

- Send us an email! For the most part, the cabins are all fairly similar and appropriate for any family, but we're happy to talk to you about your cabin selection.
